Taylor Healthcare's Nylon Fleece Emergency Blanket Named EMS Expo Top Pick

Las Vegas, Nevada—November 1, 2006— Taylor Healthcare Products innovative 60” x 90” Nylon Fleece Emergency Blanket was named a ‘Top Pick’ product of the EMS Expo, the world’s largest EMS conference and trade show. The expo, which took place at the Las Vegas Convention Center from September 25-29, featured more than 450 vendors of EMS products.

Chosen by Mike Smith, BS, MICP, of the EMS Magazine Editorial Advisory Board, ‘Top Picks’ highlight the top 20 new products introduced at the annual show. Taylor’s Nylon Fleece Emergency Blanket is featured the November issue of EMS Magazine.

The blanket features water proof Nylon to keep patients dry in wet weather conditions and a soft fleece underside to provide insulation and comfort against the elements.

“You can move [your] patient from house to rig with confidence, as this blanket has a waterproof nylon side to keep your patient nice and dry, while the fleece on the flip side keeps them warm and comfortable,” praised Mike Smith. Smith described the blankets as a great value with “excellent functionality in both warmth and weather protection, and custom embroidery—you just can’t beat that.”
